1. The program can run smoothly in the client's laptop and desktop, no issues occurred
2. The system cannot accept the old template excel file, since our program was not designed for reading the old files
3. We need to provide more excel files with new templates that the client can try and get more data in the database
4. We decide to remove the 'bulk load' function due to time limit
5. We need to finalize the notification function, so that user can know if they successfully uploaded their file
6. The program still needs to be finalized, and we need to notify the client once we finished
7. The program has been officially handed over to the client, and client has accepted current product
